1. Parents will pay for all entries studied outside the curriculum, but the school will accommodate the exam.
2. At GCSE, where an oral examiner is required, the school will not pay the oral examination fee. The oral examination fee is agreed annually by the Enfield Examination Officers Group.
3. Applications for all NCE must be with the examination officer by 31 October of the academic year of the examination.
4. The Deputy Head Curriculum will determine if the entry for candidates in year 10 and 11 is appropriate and does not conflict with the taught GCSE entries. The Deputy Head, Sixth Form will determine if the entry for candidates in years 12 & 13 does not conflict with the taught curriculum at A'level.
5. Only one entry from Groups A, B & C can be made at any one examination session.
6. It will be expected that GCSE and A Level entries will be made at the appropriate Key Stage, unless exemption has been agreed. i.e.
 - a. GCSE entries are not allowed before year 10.
 - b. AS & A2 units can only be taken in years 12 & 13.
7. For Group A subjects, the Head of Languages will make an assessment of the student's level of attainment. The student may be required to take a practice examination in the January practice examination period.
8. For Group B & C subjects, the student will provide a completed form from the subject tutor to indicate that lessons have been taken and that the student is capable of achieving a high grade. Latymer will provide this form.
9. At GCSE or A'level, where a controlled assessment is required, the school will not pay for or organise the preparation for the assessment. The school may arrange one supervised after school session in the early part of the summer term of the examination year in which students can complete written tasks under high control conditions. This is dependent on the school capacity and will be decided by 31st March in the academic year of the examination. The students will bear the cost of the additional supervision.
10. Where the school decides against supporting an entry for an examination the examination cannot be taken through The Latymer School.
